Assessment services has done an analysis of residential market values and found that residential values have increased by approximately 1.934% over 2011. This market shift is based on the median value so one needs to keep in mind this market shift will affect each property differently.

Using this median value shift of 1.934%, the impact of the proposed budget for a typical residential property would be:

Median Assessment Value	$ 438,140	$ 446,613
PROPERTY TAX - Estimate	2011	2012	$Change	%Change

Factoring in the change in school taxes the impact on a typical residential property will be:

Median Assessment Value	$ 438,140	$ 446,613

Total	$ 2,670.68	$ 2,739.63	$ 68.94	2.58%

Comments:

It is important to point out that there will be taxpayers who will see a decrease in municipal taxes if their assessment increase is less than the 1.934% and a larger increase if their assessment value has increased by more than the 1.934%.

Non-Residential Property:

Assessment services has also done an analysis of non-residential market values and found that values for non-residential properties have increased by approximately 9.445% over 2011. This market shift is based on the median value so one needs to keep in mind this market shift will affect each property differently.

Using this median value shift of 9.445%, the impact of the proposed budget for a typical non-residential property would be:

Median Assessment Value	$ 3,448,965	$ 3,774,720
PROPERTY TAX - Estimate	2011	2012	$Change	%Change

The same comments regarding residential property also apply to non-residential property in that the market shift will impact all properties differently.

Conclusion:

Because the assessment system is based on market values and market values change every year, it is always a challenge to try and determine what the typical tax increase will be.

Analysis shows that, for 2011, the median value for residential properties went up by 1.934%. This is the factor used to calculate a typical assessment value and to provide Council with an estimation of taxes. Based on this information and analysis, the impact of the municipal tax levies will be -0.64% or $-17.04 per year.

The same analysis was applied to non-residential property and it was found that the median value for non-residential properties went up by 9.445%. Based on this information and analysis, the impact of the municipal tax levies will be 4.26% or $1,452.89 per year.

The provincial education requisition for Parkland County has increased by 11.09%. This increase, of which Parkland County has no control of, has a significant impact on the taxpayer. When the impact of the school requisition is added, the typical residential property will pay an additional $85.99 per year which when combined with the municipal tax levies results in an increase of 2.58% or $68.94 per year. For a typical non-residential taxpayer the impact of the school requisition adds an additional $1,152.77 to the total tax bill which when combined with the municipal increase, results in an average increase of $2,605.67 or 7.64%.
